

While Congress was debating over the question of our neutrality in the present European conflict, an event occurred last week which may serve to drag us into some rather heated diplomatic negotiations and, possibly, into the war itself. Word was received late Monday night that the American freighter, City of Flint, had been intercepted by a German warship while sailing from New York to Glasgow and had been taken first to a port in the northern part of Norway and finally, to Murmansk, Russia, where the now-famous Bremen is also being held. Another bulletin stated that the entire American crew was safe, and that the crew of German sailors who had brought the ship into port had been released.

State department officials in Washington declared that the Soviet government had violated the accepted code of international law flagrantly by allowing the prize to remain in her harbor and by releasing the German sailors. They added that the United States will use all the measures within her power to obtain the release of the vessel.

It is believed that the Germans seized the City of Flint because it was carrying goods other than the announced cargo of tractors and other farm implements. This belief was substantiated last week when a letter from an officer of the ship was published in a prominent newspaper. Writing to his wife in Norfolk, Jesse V. Roberson, the third assistant engineer of the captured vessel, said "the ship is loaded to the rails with contraband material." It is obvious that tractors, which are easily converted into tanks, and high-test fertilizer, which can just as easily be made into gunpowder, are considered contraband by the German government quite as though they were shells and cannon.

This fact was quickly taken up by sponsors of the new neutrality bill. They eagerly point out that it is ridiculous to keep the present embargo on "munitions and war materials" and at the same time allow the belligerents to purchase all the arms they desire disguised in a different form. They add that if the new bill had been in effect there would have been no seizure because American ships, regardless of cargo, would be forbidden to enter the war zone.

Realizing this, and feeling the neediness of war as a result of the City of Flint incident, the Senate began to hurry up its debate on the neutrality measure, promising a vote by the end of the week. The presiding officer of the upper house, vice-president Garner, threw aside all precedent in his efforts to speed the legislation. When accused of attempting to railroad the bill through, he declared "we aren't going to railroad anything but we aren't going to make this any horse-and-buggy outfit either."

LAST MINUTE FLASHES:

PARIS—Communications were restored tonight with Belgium and Holland after a silence of nearly 10 hours. Whether the silence was the cause of sabotage or weather conditions was not announced.

LONDON—The British ministry of information announced a German submarine was captured near the straits of Gibraltar late yesterday. This seizure was significant because it was the first time that a Nazi submarine has been seen in these waters since the beginning of hostilities. To the Allied high command, this means that Hitler is trying to cut off their supplies from India, Egypt, and the near East.

WASHINGTON—Attorney General Murphy stated in a press conference that several key industrial plants in the nation had been protected by sandbags and army guards to prevent any possible sabotage backed by belligerent nations.

Candidates For Student Legislature Will Be Elected Monday

BEAUTIES WON'T GO COMMERCIAL, DECLARE DEANS

Kentucky Association Ruling Explained By Mrs. Holmes

Because of the comment which has arisen over the University's failure to name any women as representatives in the Kentucky Tobacco Festival, Lexington November 1-4, Assistant Dean of Women, Sarah B. Holmes, announced the reason for this action, or lack of action.

Mrs. Holmes said that, since the time, more than 10 years ago, when the University first started sending representatives to the Mountain Laurel Festival in Pineville, she has been the recipient of a growing number of requests for women to attend various functions. These have ranged from beer carnivals to bathing beauty contests.

At the 1939 annual meeting of the Kentucky Association of Deans of Women at Lexington, a committee was appointed by the president of the association to formulate an expression of attitude toward campus queens and such, both in the high schools and the colleges of the state. Mrs. Holmes was the chairman of this committee.

The report which the committee returned said in part that "as an association, we regret exceedingly the use of commercial interests of our institutions and their representatives for the furtherance of purposes that have no direct relation to educational objectives."

"That, as an organization and as individuals, we will do everything within our power to discourage the exploitation of our women students for commercial purposes, and that we pledge ourselves to enlist the aid of the presidents and principals of our institutions to discourage all practices not in keeping with our educational ideals."

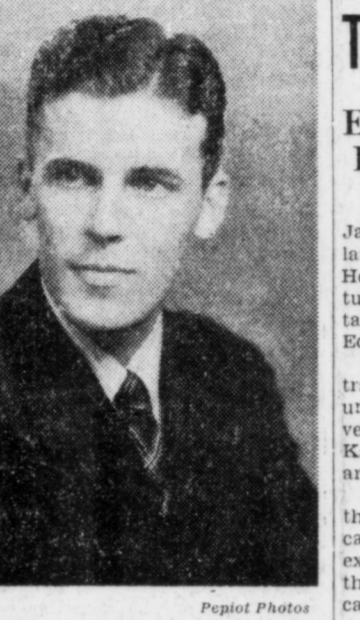

Mrs. Holmes, as well as her committee, felt that to send representatives to some affairs and not to others would give rise to the charge of favoritism.

Mrs. Holmes said yesterday that "it is unfortunate that we had to refuse to participate in the Tobacco Festival, but in keeping with the agreement we now have with institutions all over the state we can make no exceptions. We will refuse to send representatives to all similar functions."

SOLDIERS PLAN FOR ANNUAL DAY

Today, the anniversary of Theodore Roosevelt's birthday, members of Scabbard and Blade, national military honor society are celebrating their annual Scabbard and Blade day in 78 leading colleges and universities throughout the country.

Although the military organization was founded in 1904, the first observance of Roosevelt's birthday came eight years ago, in 1931, as the outgrowth of a motion made at a national convention.

Members of the University chapter, company D, fourth regiment, wearing complete uniform, will observe the day by going to the freshman football game in a body, and then returning to the armory for a smoker and refreshments. Cigars and punch will be supplied from company treasury funds.

Captain Lloyd Ramsey requests that all members meet promptly at 2 p. m. in room 203 of the armory. Those who are unable to come at that time will join the company at the game.

Other companies in the fourth regiment are the universities of Syracuse, Cincinnati, Montana, Michigan, Kansas, Tennessee, Arizona, California, Emory, and the Agricultural College of Utah and the Colorado Agriculture College.

Officers elected for this year besides Captain Ramsey include Frank Roberts, first lieutenant; Logan Caldwell, second lieutenant; and John Tuttle, sergeant.

CRSG MEMBERS TO LEAD FORUM

Advisers To Interpret Student Charter

Faculty members of the committee for reorganization of student government, who aided in the drafting of the present constitution, will lead a discussion next Thursday at 7 p. m. in the Union music room.

Prof. L. J. Horlacher, chairman of the committee, Dr. Roy Moreland, Prof. W. C. Tucker, Dean T. T. Jones, Dean Sarah G. Blandling, Dr. J. Huntley Dupre, and Prof. W. A. Tolman will attend the meeting, sponsored by the Union Forum committee, and will explain the reasons for the selection of this type of constitution, interpret it and show how our constitution differs from that of other schools.

Frances Hanna, Forum chairman, asked that all legislators plan to be present—as well as those students who are interested in university constitutional government. The chairman added that this would be an excellent opportunity for any one to air their criticism of the new form of government, as all sides of the question will be brought under consideration and discussion from the floor will be permitted.

Neutrality Bill Causes Nye To Cancel Talk

A telegram received last night from Senator Nye in Washington stated that "As conferences between the House and Senate on the neutrality bill will take place next week, it will be impossible for Senator Nye to leave Washington."

This cancels the lecture by the Senator which was scheduled for next week at Memorial hall.

Mrs. E. G. Trimble's committee, which had arranged for the speaker, met last night and decided that refunds will be made on all tickets sold to date, provided they are returned to the place or person from whom they were bought.

Other arrangements for a benefit program for the student loan fund have not yet been made.

TWO PORTRAITS TO BE UNVEILED

Exercises To Be Held In Education College

Unveiling of the portraits of Dr. James Thomas Cotton Noe, poet laureate of Kentucky and Dr. Henry Rhoads, both professor emeriti in the College of Education will take place in the auditorium of the Education building at 4 p. m. today.

Painted by Dora Pitts, the portraits, framed in gold leaf, will be unveiled and presented to the University by members of Phi Delta Kappa and Kappa Delta Pi, honorary education fraternities.

Dr. Wellington Patrick, head of the department of history of education, will preside at the unveiling exercises. Dr. M. E. Ligon, head of the department of secondary education is chairman of the program.

DOGPATCH FOLKS TO BE ON RADDIO

Yokums, Other Hicks Will Be On Air

Sadie Hawkins, the patron saint of modern co-eds, will take to the airwaves on November 17, along with Daisy Mae, Hairless Joe, and other inhabitants of Al Capa's comestrip town of Dogpatch.

The broadcast will come over an NBC-red network from Philadelphia, and the occasion will be that city's annual University's holiday, which will be held on November 11, under the auspices of Keys, men's sophomore honorary.

Since its inauguration a few years ago, Sadie Hawkins day has become an annual event at many colleges throughout the country and was inaugurated on this campus last year. On that day usual courtship methods are reversed and the women court the men.

A costume dance is held on the occasion, and women must tag their "dates" with tags which are placed on sale at the University book store on Friday the day before.

This was the first costume dance held for several school years, special permission having been obtained last year exempting the occasion from a University ruling forbidding costume dances.

Wildcat To Feature Election Of Queen

A campus queen contest in which nine women will be selected for the position will be featured in the October issue of "The Wildcat," University humor publication, which will make its appearance next week. Ballots will appear in the magazine and voters will deposit them in a special box which will be placed at the postoffice.

Among other features of the October issue will be a story "Ah Football," by Joe Creason; Guignol article by Ben Williams, a story on the new student government, and "Joe College Eyes the Fresh Meat," a handy list of campus co-eds stating in detail their tastes, competition, accessibility and description.

One of the features of a future issue will be a serial in monthly form of the day by account of the Sour Mash Magazine Inc., vs. Bill Costel and James Shropshire case which will be tried in Fayette circuit court in December.

MISS LOVENS IMPROVING

The condition of Mabel Lovens, senior in the College of Arts and Sciences, who underwent an appendectomy Wednesday morning, was reported as "fairly good" by attaches of the Good Samaritan hospital late last night.

Cross's Band And Free Cider Billed By Union

The Union will hold a "cider shag" dance from 9 p. m. to midnight Saturday in the Bluegrass room.

Free cider will be served, according to announcement. Fifty cents admission, stag or couple, will be charged for the hop at which Bill Cross's orchestra will furnish the music.

ODK ELIGIBLES TO FILE POINTS

Qualification Sheets Due November 8

Qualification sheets for Omicron Delta Kappa, men's leadership fraternity, are due at noon November 8 at the Kernel business office on the main floor of McVey hall.

The following changes adopted last April by the circle will go into effect at the election November 9:

- 1) no points for Interfraternity council membership will be granted to councilmen who are also presidents of social fraternities.
- 2) an extra point will be granted for presidency of the Men's glee club when membership in the club has been for two years.
- 3) the personnel director of the band will be granted one point.

Candidates for the circle will be announced November 10.

Caldwell Accepts Wisconsin Position

University Sociology Teacher To Become Director Of Corrections

Dr. Morris G. Caldwell, assistant professor of sociology, took the oath of office as director of the division of corrections for the state of Wisconsin, Wednesday at Madison, Wisconsin.

Dr. Caldwell's resignation as assistant professor of sociology at the University will become effective December 1, at which time he will go to Madison.

Wisconsin recently reorganized all of its welfare activities into one department, which is divided into five divisions, one of which is the section which Dr. Caldwell will direct. He was appointed to this $5,000-a-year post early this week by the Wisconsin state welfare board and approved by Gov. Julius P. Heil.

As director of the division of correction of the state prison, state reformatory, reformatory for women, prison for women, institution for criminally insane, prison camps, boys' industrial school, and probation and parole. He will also be a member of the state parole board.

Dr. Caldwell has been connected with the University sociology department five years, before which time he was an instructor at Ashland College, Ashland, Ohio, and was connected with Westminster College in Fulton, Missouri.

47 Will Enter Race; Constitutionalists Announce Entrants Backed By Party

Fifty petitions were received Wednesday for candidacy for the 20 representative seats on the student legislature in Monday's election. Of this number one petition was thrown out because the applicant had less than the 1.5 standing required and two applicants have withdrawn from the race since submitting petitions.

Further withdrawals to be officially recognized must be written and submitted by noon today at the Kernel editorial office, officials announced.

PLANS FOR SING ARE MADE BY ODK

Cups Will Be Awarded To Men And Women

The annual campus sing for which Omicron Delta Kappa, men's leadership fraternity will act as sponsor, will be held early in December, the group's committee, announced yesterday.

Open to all campus groups, the sing is being held earlier than usual this year in order that fraternity pledges may participate. Hunsaker urges that all groups expecting to enter begin practice immediately.

Cups are awarded every year to the winners and runners-up in both the men's and the women's divisions.

"It is expected," Hunsaker said, "that many groups will want to prepare at least one Christmas song, in keeping with the season in which the sing will be held."

Race Reminds Colonel Of Old Times

Today the Colonel is sort of weary. An enthusiastic spectator in every political campaign for the last half-century, the old boy has just witnessed one of the mud-slingingest, name-callingest affairs since the McKinley-Bryan race of '96.

But the Colonel has hopes. He looks forward to the time, now that the votes have been counted and the victory celebrated, when the winning party will become conscious of the great opportunities and responsibilities which the polls have brought to them. Student government, opines the Colonel, is not to be treated as were the "political football" systems of last year and the year before and the year before that. The formers of the Constitution arrived at a potentially workable form of government. Its possibilities are many, its future bright.

But how bright that future proves to be depends to a great extent upon the beginning made by the initial officers. Office-holding is a fine thing — it gives one prestige and it offers an occasional rake-down. But the victors must realize that the ideals of the Constitution are head and shoulders above that. They are responsibilities, not "fine things."

A good, conscientious student administration can accomplish needed reforms and benefit worthy people — or it can bog down into the slough that has been student government for the past five years.

Upon the shoulders of the victorious ticket does that alternative squarely rest.—J. C.

Education Becomes Cooperative, Democratic

From the days of Socrates, Plato, and Aristotle teachers have been telling students what to do. It has been an autocratic and aristocratic system that education has followed. In the Middle Ages, when only the clergy studied, church officials set down certain requirements which students were made to follow.

But with modern education came a change to more democratic and cooperative teaching methods. Teachers were no longer rulers of the classrooms but served as guides and counselors.

Today education has come so far from dogmatism that teachers are turning to students with the question "What shall we study and how?" Classes are becoming round-table discussions with students taking the leads. Student-suggested books are being placed on required reading outlines; student-suggested methods of class procedure are finding openings in classes.

Last year on the University campus, in a revision of the four-year curriculum of a major department, students in the department were consulted. Their suggestions on the value of various courses, time needed for the course, books to be purchased for the department, texts to be used, outside work for the classes, and new courses to be added were in many respects included in a new curriculum.

At the state educational conference on the campus this week further evidence of student opinion in teaching methods will be shown when students from leading Kentucky colleges and secondary schools will discuss educational problems at a round-table. Professors will be in the audience to hear what their proteges think of education and what they expect from higher learning.

Among the questions to be considered are: what part of a college education will directly fit the student for his occupation or profession after college; under departmentalized procedure how do contradictions in teachings of the various departments affect the student; how much value is gained from contacts with teachers after class hours; what types of examinations do students consider best?

Education has come a long way from the days of Socrates when he said, "These are my questions. Give me the answers," to the modern school where students say, "These are our questions. Help us to find the answers."—L. C.

No Storm, Tornado—Just An Election

No, it wasn't the debris of a flood, nor the propaganda raid of a foreign power which caused hall floors of the Union to resemble the cutting room of a pattern factory last Monday evening. The pamphlets, waste-paper, and miscellaneous propaganda which littered the linoleum were the work of various student government parties which have committed themselves to fulfill the requirements of the constitution, which, in turn, stands for a bigger and better University.

Perhaps it is slightly dog-in-the-mangerish, especially after the excellent vote in Monday's election, to complain of "minor" details of thoughtlessness and mild vandalism. But at the same time, these breaches of adult conduct are so unnecessary, unsightly, and expensive to the Union and to the University that a reminder is certainly justified.

Extra help had to be added to the janitorial staff of the Union. Numerous criticisms were directed at the students and at the new government for allowing such actions. In turn, the parties themselves came in for criticism on the grounds that they hadn't changed a bit, in spite of their eloquent programs.

Another election, for the Arts and Sciences college, will probably be held in the Union next Monday. The parties, the candidates themselves, can demonstrate their sincerity in respective races for the legislature by asking supporters and political representatives to exercise a fair amount of reserve in dropping circulars, cigarettes, and tags in the halls of campus buildings.

Behind The Eckdahl

By
ANDREW C. ECKDAHL

Time, the element with which we deal from day to day and not the magazine, moves relentlessly onward. And with it, science and progress ruthlessly shove aside the certainties of yesterday.

Man, already confused by the whirlwind illogicalizations of the last two decades, is constantly inventing new devices to perplex his tortured mind.

Not so long ago you could walk in to a restaurant, ask for doughnuts and coffee, and, with no further ado, be served your order. That would be the end of it.

We went into a downtown restaurant recently, and with an air of confident finality ordered, "Doughnuts and coffee."

But the waitress immediately asked, "Round straight, glazed, cinnamon, sugared, plain or yeast?"

We popped into the Union building yesterday to purchase a package of cigarettes. As in our custom we asked for matches. The waiter handed us one of those paper packs. We cheerfully opened it and found it contained—one match. Tsk! Tsk!

Mysteries of Life

The gown that was the envy of every other sorority woman is "that old thing" today.

Our friend Butch writes as follows: "Even if Cal Coolidge did fiddle while the country boomed, we have a kindly feeling for his memory and we had a lot of fun when he ruled."

Mr. Billy Hudson, who lives in Versailles, is a freshman at the University. We really know of no good reason why he should merit mention herein, but we have a feeling, a sort of premonition, that we should mention him.

He's of about average height, blonde, good-looking and makes plenty of noise. We recommend him to any and everyone.

A combination of English, Political Science, German and Philosophy having developed into something of a Maginot line, we find ourselves, believe it or not, behind the eight ball. Firmly believing that an appeasement policy would have little effect on UK profs, we are planning more drastic action. For that reason, Behind the Eckdahl, will appear only once a week in the future. So, if you miss the column Tuesday just expect it Friday.

... on swing music and the ring-masters who put it through its paces . . .

No attempt to write a column dealing with the collegian's ideals, activities, likes and dislikes would be complete without some informal dissertation upon contemporary dance orchestras and the current "popular" music.

For, however trivial and impertinent these things openly may seem, they definitely play top roles in university life. They are, next to courting perhaps, the campusite's most welcomed escape valve from the strife and greed and all other inhumanities which now hold the world in their grip.

Although there is little that this generation can do just now about the state of the globe it can devote its attentions to those things, trite or otherwise, which yield some gram of pleasure. And so they do.

Therefore do we think it proper that, on this 27th day of October, 1939, we should pause, harvest the musical pumpkin crop, see just what the score is.

Top-ranking orchestra at the present time, judging from the current trend in music style, undoubtedly is that of Glen Miller. He, more than any other leader, has succeeded in taking out the jitter, putting back the glitter, into dance music.

His "Moonlight Serenade" is a modern masterpiece, and, in our opinion, is destined to take a place alongside the deathless "Stardust," "Night and Day," and "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes."

Second place we would award to

Bob Crosby, whose music is having more influence on the torrid varieties of swing than anyone has had since the early days of the Benny Goodman reign. And, being personally shot with the guy, we think it's about time.

B. Crosby's "South Rampart Street Parade" and "Big Noise from Winnetka" now are almost unanimously recognized as holding the somewhat dubious honor of patterns for le jazz hot.

For the third notch we nominate the perennial Tommy Dorsey, who, every angle taken into consideration, has the best all-around orchestra in the nation. The man can play just about anything and make it woo the eardrums.

Although the bloom has not yet fallen off the revolutionary "Marie" and "Song of India" we put forward as the best example of the Dorseyian trombone the yearling "Old Cui."

Letters To The Editor

To the editor of the Kernel:

Among the great number of women candidates for the legislature of the new student government is one qualified above all the rest. Harriet Hendershot was chairman of the YW Student Forum which gave rise to the making of our new constitution. She was one of the few who worked continuously on the constitution until it was ratified. As a member of the board she has worked faithfully and is, we feel, best qualified to help interpret the constitution by being a member of the new legislature. We feel that such qualifications should not be ignored regardless of political factions.

Paintings by local and central Kentucky artists will be exhibited for two and a half weeks, beginning November 26 in the Union, by the Brush and Pencil club.

Local artists and amateurs may submit work for consideration. The exhibition, the ninth to be staged by the club is to be held in the gallery of the music room since it offers more space and better lighting than the Art Center, where similar exhibitions have been held previously.

In this Kaywoodie pipe, called the Carburetor Kaywoodie, a wonderfully sweet-smoking pipe has been improved by the application of a neat little principle of physics. When you take a puff at one of these Carburetor Kaywoodies, you automatically draw air in through a tiny inlet in the bottom of the bowl. That incoming air keeps the smoke cool, sweet and serene, no matter how beligerently you puff. In fact, the harder you puff, the more air comes in. That's why it's called a Carburetor Kaywoodie. Everybody knows that a Kaywoodie is the most socially-conscious of pipes—gets itself admired everywhere. And the Kaywoodie Flavor is famous. But don't let us urge you—Shown above, No. 22.

"Cider Shag" Planned For Saturday; Founders' Honored By Two Sororities

Spirit Of Hallowe'en Will Be Dance's Motif

A "Cider Shag" under the auspices of the Union will be held from 9 to 12 p. m. Saturday. Bill Cross' orchestra will play in the ballroom which will be decorated for Hallowe'en with corn shocks and pumpkins.

Free cider will be a special feature of the evening, this being the first time that the admission of fifty cents, per couple or stag, has included both the orchestra and refreshments.

Informality will be the keynote of the evening, due to the coming Sadie Hawkins dance which will be in costume. The first formal will be given November 4. There will be six no-breaks during the evening.

Efforts are being made for this "cider shag" to be different from the usual Saturday night hop in the Union.

Delta Zeta Pledges Entertain With Dance

Honoring rushers and actives, the pledges of Delta Zeta will entertain tonight with a Hallowe'en dance at the chapter house.

Hallowe'en colors, pumpkins, and corn stalks will be used as decorations.

Mrs. Sarah Jovett, housemother, will preside at the punch table. She will be assisted by Wilay Graves and Jean Tye.

Florina Grever, Gene Jones, and Margaret Collins are in charge of arrangements for the party.

Founders' Day Dinner Held By Kappa Delta At Louisville

Epsilon Omega of Kappa Delta gave its annual Founder's Day banquet Sunday evening at the Kentucky hotel in Louisville with Alpha Xi chapter at the University of Louisville.

A toast was proposed to Epsilon Omega by Virginia Richards, president of Alpha Xi alumnae, and was answered by Elna Winkler, president of Epsilon Omega chapter.

The history of Kappa Delta, dating from its founding in 1897, was given in a pageant by the Alpha Xi chapter.

The banquet table was in the shape of a diamond, the Kappa Delta badge, and was decorated with white roses, the Kappa Delta flower.

Dinner was served to 150 guests. Other chapters of Kappa Delta represented at the banquet were Nu, Omicron and Sigma Theta.

The alumnae of Alpha Xi were in charge of arrangements for the banquet.

Hereafter Alpha Xi and Epsilon Omega will make the joint celebration of Kappa Delta Founder's Day an annual affair.

Chatter Bits

As Told To
GEORGE MARTIN

Alan Vogeler, Law College whiz, would like for it to be known and circulated widely that he is not the Al Vogel of Sour Mash suit fame. It seems that Vogeler is becoming rather bitter about it.

The Phi Tau Houseboat party of about a week ago turned out to be a dash on the wet side of things. This is especially true of one Reggie Palmore who braved the cold waters of the Ohio River for a pleasure swim at three o'clock in the morning. Guess the water felt right good then didn't it Reggie?

The fair maidens at the K. D. Mansion think that Phi Tau Bill Pennycook possesses a good looking bathrobe. Guess the gals have been doing a little peeping work on the sly. Bill wears that robe quite a bit of late because he is now trying his hand at novel writing and he thinks that it lends atmosphere. His new work is to be—True Confessions of Carolyn Conant the Chi-O Cutie.

Alpha Gam Gladys Harkness has a new theme song—"I Need Lovin'." She can be found singing this tune almost any time of the day. Well, guess Pi Kap Bob Brown can take care of things O. K.

At a recent meeting of the Constitutional Party, held in celebration of the its victory in the last elections, Pete Gragis was praised highly for the party's success. To quote "dictator" James Wine, "Pete did more to win for us than anyone else that I can think of."—P. S. Gragis was a member of the opposing party.

Do Ann Young now occupies the room right next to the fire escape in the Ohio house. This bit of news might be welcomed by certain campus second story men.—Careful men, those iron steps are mighty slippery when wet.

Gladys McDaniels goes home to see her mother every week end. Is that so Gladys? Couldn't it possibly be Dick Bondurant that has that magnetic attraction and draws you to Louisville every Saturday?

Mary Ann Gott is being exceedingly A.T.O. minded these days. She is courting heavily with several of these Greeks. Wonder how soon the field is going to narrow down?

A double feature took place Wednesday for Blondie Tweet Canary. During the day she had cross words with Harry Gorman—Finis Harry. In the evening she was called from meeting to answer a long distance call from Nevada. . . . More cross words and Finis the Nevada Male. Gentlemen, lets forget the cross words and cross swords to see who is going to court her now.

Married life is plenty tough . . . Wally Hislop besides losing a tooth three weeks ago is now in the hospital.

P. R.'s Joe Webb wants a date for the P. R. dance. Three specifications: (1) Good-looking, (2) Intelligent, (3) To be given personally to the date.

The petition for better food for Patt hall that started circulating this past week was brought about by dream. Yes sir—a dream. One of the freshman girls dreamed that she was eating Patt Hall Hamburger and when she awakened the following morning half of the mattress was chewed up.

A student from the University of the South—Sewanee—believes in getting pinned from a distance. Mary Bryson received a letter from him stating that he would like to send her his Kappa Sig pin. Maybe long range tactics are the best after all.

The following people are hogs about each other: Dan Doggett and Ann McMullen, Lyda Garred and Dick Stone, Ann Harding Davis and Tommy Montgomery, Louise Baily and Gus Petro, Eddie David and Winnie O'Leary and last but not least Carl Conner and Carl Conner.

While we are on the subject of Carl Conner . . . remember when he was in the hospital? Well, his hair was so long that a young boy selling magazines entered his room and said . . . "Would you like to buy a magazine lady?" Boy, did Carl burn!

Two pinnings have come to mine ears: Phi Sig Jack McCarthy and Mary Ann Dings have joined the ranks. Likewise have Betty Vosmer and Triangle-Roger Lyons. Congratulations to all.

KICK-OFF BILLED ON STOLL FIELD FOR 2:30 P. M.

In the first start of a three game season, Kentucky's question mark freshman football team will meet the twice victorious Vanderbilt junior Commodores tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 on Stoll Field.

Since the varsity performs on all sod this week, the Kittens will furnish the grid fans with their week's entertainment. General admission will be 40 cents but student books will be accepted at the gate.

Despite the fact that they resemble a walking quiz contest with plenty yet to be learned concerning their strength, the Kittens, on paper, are potential dynamite. But even the coaching corps, Gene Myers, Joe Ruper and Lloyd Ramsey, won't know what to do until they see how their gadgets hold up under game pressure.

The bout will mark the second start for the young Cats over the full game route. In an early season practice game with the varsity, the Kittens, performing miserably, were strapped by 50-0. But since that time great improvement, especially in fundamentals and team work, has been exhibited by the frosh.

In opening with Vanderbilt the Kittens have drawn a team that is regarded as the toughest first year squad in the history of the Tennessee school. Two games played by Vandy have resulted in landslide wins over the frosh clubs from Western Teachers College and Seawane. The game will conclude the Vanderbilt season since the Southeastern conference allows freshmen teams to play but three games.

Kentucky is expected to tee-off with a big, powerful line operating ahead of a comparatively light and shifty backfield. Clyde Johnson and Clark Woods, a pair of 220 pounders, are expected to receive the starting nod at the tackles. The starting guard posts are undecided with Norman Beck or Jack Casner due to open on the left side and either Jack Colvin or Bill Welborn slated for the other vacancy.

One of the strongest spots on the team is the center station where Charley Walker will open. Able relief will be furnished him by Ralph Davis. George Edwards and Gene Geary will probably compose the starting ends.

Phil Cutchin, son of Carlisle Cutchin, athletic director at Murray State college, will handle the quarterback spot with John Hurst and Jack Kincer running from the halfback posts. The fullback duties will be handled by Bob Herbert, a hard charging 190 pounder. Jack Farris, a tricky broken field runner, will undoubtedly see plenty of action in the game.

BRILLIANT PASSING BY HEDGES LANDS PI KAPS IN GRID FINALS

Behind the expert passing of Billy Hedges, the Pi Kappa Alphas marched into the second and final round of the touch football tournament by defeating the Alpha Tau Omega team yesterday by a 12-0 score.

Pi Kap's first score came in the first quarter when, after a series of short passes, Hedges' pass to Homer Knight was completed for a touchdown. The second score came in the third quarter on a forty yard pass from Hedges to Crakraft. The ATOs threatened several times but the long passes of Scott and Alfrey were continually stopped by the Pi Kap backfield. Yesterday's victory places the Pi Kaps in the fraternity tournament finals opposite the winner of the Sigma Chi-Delta Tau Delta game which is to be played this week.

On Wednesday the Sigma Chi's defeated the SAEs in the battle for the championship of League I, 14-6. The Sigma Chi's first touchdown was scored on a pass from Boland to Wine in the opening minutes of play but was matched when the SAEs retaliated almost immediately. However, in the second half a blocked punt gave the Sigma Chis what proved to be the winning two points and in the closing minutes Boland clinched the victory with a 50-yard run up the sidelines to score.

Tuesday's play saw Mitchell's club capture the championship of the Independent league with a 12-6 victory over Slatt's fighting crew. In the other game of the afternoon Pi Kappa Alpha eked out a 12-6 victory over Kappa Alpha.

Wednesday's battles completed the round-robin tournaments in the different leagues and four fraternity teams and one independent club advanced into final elimination play. In League I the Sigma Chis were victorious over the SAEs. In League II Delta Tau Delta finished ahead of Phi Sigma, Kappa for first place honors, and in League III Pi Kappa Alpha, with a perfect record, emerged victorious. In League IV an Alpha Tau Omega victory over Sigma Nu was the deciding factor in giving them the win. In the opening rounds of the final tournament, the winners of Leagues I and II and Leagues III and IV compete.

rosity Shop." Unappreciated though it was in its infancy, the platter has never ceased to rate four stars in our estimation.

Conspicuous by its absence among the top three is the crew of one A. Shaw, which gained an impressive first place in a campus poll conducted by this column as recently as last March.

This condition may be explained by the fact that the Shaw group strictly a style band, has made records of just about every piece in existence which shows it up to advantage, and has nothing new to offer. Besides Mr. Shaw seems to have decided to cease struggling and capitalize on his reputation, a state which stuffs the pocket-book but contributes little to the progress of jazz.

One exceptional flash-in-the-pan, however, is his late recording of "Last Two Weeks in July."

On the up-grade is Jan Savitt, who has lately gotten wise to himself and toned his volume down considerably. The result is a recent set of records with a truly remarkable rhythm.

Our boy Les Brown has thus far failed to live up to optimistic predictions, so we're picking another "White Hope" in his stead. This one is Teddy Powell, whose music, though about as subtle as an exploding torpedo, has something decidedly refreshing. He'll bear watching.

And now comes the time when we shall attempt to pick the three current top-ranking songs. The fact that all three are on the quiet side only goes to further our belief that the Glenn Miller influence has, for the time-being at least, turned the tide in the direction of "sweet" music.

They are:
1) Blue Orchids
2) What's New?
3) Day In, Day Out.
Any and all protests, together with reasons, will be cheerfully accepted.

Also representing the University in the parade will be the Pershing Rifle company and the band. From Eastern State Teachers College will come its band and part of the ROTC.

A dance will be held in honor of the carnival queen, Marjorie Weaver, from 10 p. m. to 2 a. m., November 3, in the New Burley warehouse. At this function several members of the band and Pershing Rifles will act as ushers.

YM DISCUSSIONS OPEN THIS WEEK

Fraternities And Halls Announce Leaders

Marking its nineteenth year of existence, the YM discussion group series opened this week in the University's 20 fraternity houses and men's dormitories.

The talks, to be conducted every Wednesday night by University and Lexington speakers, are held, in the words of Bart Peak, secretary, "to enable students to enter into discussions of social, economic, and moral problems which they are facing now or will face in future life."

The meetings, according to Mr. Peak, will be conducted for a period of six weeks, and will be closed with a banquet attended by the speakers and representatives from each group. "The subjects for the discussions," Mr. Peak said, "are based upon the highest ethical standards that they can find, and have in the past proved to be extremely popular. This fact is borne out by last year's statistics," he added, "which show that we had enrolled in the groups 595 students, with an average attendance of 487 for the entire period."

HOOPSTERS TO START PRACTICE FOR GRUELLING GAME SCHEDULE

Faced by a cut-throat 18 game schedule that calls for bouts with champions from three different conferences, Coach Adolph Rupp made the first call to the hardwood Monday with 14 varsity basketball candidates answering the whistle.

As defending champions of the Southeastern Conference, Kentucky will return to the New Orleans Sugar Bowl, December 27, for a game with Ohio State, Big 10 title. Other important intersectional bookings are with Clemson, tops in the Southern Conference, West Virginia, Eastern Inter collegiate champs, Kansas State, Big-6 powerhouse, Notre Dame, Marquette and Xavier.

Five lettermen from last season's team present Coach Rupp with a nucleus for his squad. These men, Lee Huber, Keith Farnsley, Marion Clugghish, Layton Rouse and Harry Denham are all tested veterans. Up from last year's "lost battalion" team of men still eligible for three years of varsity service, come Don Orme, Walter White, Stanley Clugghish, Hoot Combs, and Carl Staker, all capable of handling a starting berth.

Jim King, Lloyd Ramsey, Ken England, Ermal Allen, and Marvin Akers are the contributions from last seasons freshman team. Denham, Combs, and Allen are now with the football team and will report after Thanksgiving.

Little time was wasted by Coaches Rupp and McBrayer and light doses of scrimmage and play rehearsals were prescribed for the Cats this week. Wednesday afternoon Farnsley, S. Clugghish, M. Clugghish, Rouse and Huber formed one team with White, Orme, King, Akers and Staker providing opposition.

The greatest change in the squad noted so far is the attempt to transplant Stan, smaller half of the Clugghish brother tandem, from center to forward. While the forward positions are plenty rich in scoring punch, the addition of Clugghish to the front line bombing crew will lend height, a factor that was sadly missing last season.

Against the cream of competition from East, South and Mid-West last year the Cats proved their championship caliber by rolling up 13 wins in 17 times out. Then the season was climaxed by annexing the conference title. From that team Bernie Oppen, All-American guard, Cab Curtis, the teams leading scorer, Tub Thompson, starting center and Elmo Head, diminutive forward, were lost by graduation.

Last season's wins brought to 142 the number of games won since Coach Rupp took over the coaching reins nine years ago. Four conference titles have been won and but 31 games have been lost by Kentucky teams in that time. To Paul McBrayer, Coach Rupp's right hand man, goes the credit for the fine work of the freshman teams.

Students chosen to make up a bridge team by the Union activities committee, have challenged the faculty club to a bridge tournament. The student team will be coached by John Oles, student instructor of the bridge club.

In carrying out the bridge tournament, the activities committee hopes to strengthen the relationship between faculty and students.

Kyian Pictures Must Be Made By Wednesday

Kentuckian pictures will be taken until Wednesday at the Lafayette studio, Main and Mill. Students desiring pictures in the annual must have them made during this period. Proofs not selected before that time will be chosen by the studio representative.

"no" to all nine questions asked, while only one replied "yes" to the entire lot.

The latter, when asked his reason for such a militant stand, replied "I am a strong opponent of the isolation policy; therefore, I think the only logical thing for this country to do is to enter the war." He is a male student in the College of Arts and Sciences.

Nearly all of those who gave a negative answer to each of the nine queries, described themselves as pacifists, and opposed to the military in every way and manner.

Other interesting comments gathered along with the survey were these:

(By a freshman woman in the College of Commerce)

"Let Americans stay at home, where they belong. If England, France and Germany want to commit suicide, let them, but let's stay out of the mess."

(By a junior man in the College of Arts and Sciences)

"Totalitarianism is the thing of the future and will not be checked even by Germany's defeat."

(By a sophomore man in the College of Agriculture)

"Germany's defeat will not check fascism because any country which carries on modern warfare must, out of necessity, become totalitarian itself. The chances are great that this war-bred fascism will linger on in these nations even after the war itself is over."

(By a senior in the College of Engineering)

"We should increase our armed forces to take up the great army of unemployed now roaming the country."

(By a junior man in the College of Arts and Sciences)

"The spot of sinking of an American ship would have a lot to do with whether or not I would fight. If it were sunk near our shores, yes, but if in the middle of the ocean or in foreign waters, definitely not."

Statistics in the local poll will be sent to the University of California office, where the results of the nationwide survey will be compiled and published.

New Model Men's Suit Appears On Campus

The smartest suit for the university undergraduate men this fall is the new straight front two button model. The last button is placed exactly at the waist line, the shoulders, chest, and back are full and comfortable. This model adds height to the wearer, and is becoming to every type of figure.

Tweeds, chevots, shetlands and coverts are the best adapted cloths for this model. They are soft, drape well, and look unusually smart when tailored in this manner.

The coat usually has a cash pocket above the right lower pocket, and the breast pocket has a flap. The edges are plain. The back is plain with an 8 1/2" or 9" center vent, this is determined by the height of the individual.

THORPE's tailoring department has tailored several of these smart suits for the better dressed university men this fall and they are well qualified to help you design a suit to your exacting taste, making whatever changes that you may desire at no additional cost to you. The suits in this department are easily in the reach of any college man, costing only a few dollars more than a stock suit of the same quality.—adv.

BILL DUTY

Bill is truly one of the most outstanding men on the university campus, and, as such, was recently elected president of the student body. Being the first president of the newly organized student government makes this an even greater honor.

Of his many achievements, he is vice-president of Omicron Delta Kappa, and on the interfraternity council. Bill is also a member of Scabbard and Blade, Pershing Rifle, Block and Bridge and Alpha Zeta, honoraria, agriculture fraternity.

As president of his fraternity, Phi Delta Theta, we have more evidence of Bill's popularity.

In appreciation of your many campus activities, come in and enjoy any two delicious meals from our menu.

TO TRY MUSKIES ON CINCINNATI FIELD

Kentucky's Wildcats, after four successive wins the gossip of the South, will stake their football prestige against the potentially powerful Xavier Musketeers Saturday afternoon on Xavier Field in Cincinnati.

The opening whistle is due at 2:00 and although special rates will not be offered Kentucky fans, a section of 2,500 good seats priced at 85 cents is being held open.

To Xavier, the game will be a chance for redemption after a dismal showing thus far. On the other hand, Kentucky will be fighting to avenge the embarrassment caused by last year's 26-7 spanking from Xavier. So much emphasis has Coach Clem Crowe, Xavier headman, placed on the game that he has personally scouted the Wildcats in three of their four games. When Xavier grid conscription was held this fall, 16 varsity lettermen from the 1938 squad that finished the year with seven straight wins were among the 60 answering the call. One of the toughest teams to skin the Cats last season, Xavier was expected to be even stronger this year but a screw was loose somewhere.

In their first start the Muskies were halted by an under-rated St. Mary's of Texas team by a 7-0 score. Then came an easy 19-0 win over Tennessee Poly, which tied Vanderbilt at 13-13, but next time out Xavier was tied tighter than a hangman's noose by St. Vincent's college with a scoreless draw. Last Saturday, looking ragged as a scare-crow, the Musketeers lost to Ohio University by 20-6.

Tomorrow's game will be a battle between two teams with Magnolia line defenses. The upper hand offensively, as demonstrated in games to date, goes to Kentucky. So far the Muskies have allowed a total of 27 points to be scored on them. Cat opposition has collected but 19 points and have advanced the ball a total of 223 yards. However, Xavier has scored only 25 points to 114 for Kentucky.

Figures unearthed by statisticians reveal that the current season conference wins over Vanderbilt and Georgia marks the first time since 1935 that the Cats have defeated two league teams in one year. Also the four game win spurt is the most prolonged victory march since 1933 when Kentucky opened with wins over Maryville, Sewanee, Georgia Tech and Cincinnati before being rudely awakened from their dreams by Washington and Lee.

The Cats, always a hard team to figure, have lived up to their reputation this week in practice, which Coach Ab Kirwan humanely limited to light rehearsals. Even then the Blues have appeared stale and lifeless. Most of the bruises suffered in the Georgia brawl last Saturday have been remedied and the squad, physically, except for John Eibner and Ed Jacobs, are in fairly good shape. Eibner still carries the initials of some Georgia player on his face while Jacobs is recovering from an infected ear.

Kentucky will hold a great weight edge with the probable starting line of McCubbin, Hardin, Linden, Eibner, Palmer, Willoughby and Bailey averaging around 200 pounds to 186 for the Xavier forwards. Weights in the backfield are better balanced with a slight advantage going to Xavier. The entire Xavier team will average 183 pounds to 195 for the Wildcats.

Probable starting lineups:
Kentucky — LE — Kluska (172)
Hardin (185) — LT — Rees (190)
Eibner (215) — LG — P. Sheets (168)
Willoughby (190) — C — Lucas (180)
Bailey (200) — RG — Hacker (173)
Palmer (185) — RT — Harpring (203)
Linden (225) — RE — Slattery (175)
McCubbin (185) — RB — Lavelle (170)
Shepherd (168) — QB — Weiler (180)
Zoeller (180) — LH — Bergamyer (178)
Combs (172) — RH — Mullins (175) or
Lahman (185) or — FB — Crafty (190)

ROTC Rifle Team Will Be Organized
Lieut. Col. Howard Donnelly of the military department announced yesterday, that upon completion of the rifle range some time in December, the ROTC will organize a rifle team in the charge of Major Arnold Sander.

Several challenges have been received from other ROTC teams, but acceptance is being withheld until completion of the rifle range. The matches, if accepted, will probably be shot at home by both teams and the results of each be sent to the judges of the match for scoring. Although the range will not be completed until December, members of the first year basic course, who have completed their elementary training in rifle marksmanship will probably be allowed to shoot at the 18 temporary targets which have been erected.

Calling 'Em Wild

By JOE CREASON

Over in Cincinnati sits Coach Clem Crowe, head-man of the Xavier Musketeers, and now and then he sighs. For something has happened to his Cinderella football team of 1938.

So far the Muskies, who dropped but their first two games all last year, have been pushed around as much as Thanksgiving, winning one game, losing two and battling through one scoreless dog-fall.

Like the job of a man hired to drop matches into gas tanks, such playing hasn't much future. This statement is particularly true since this season the Musketeers were supposed to be hotter than a feather bed in the tropics. With 17 lettermen and 8 varsity regulars surviving the June diploma purge, Xavier again looked like a big time grid power playing a small time schedule and another great team was expected to come popping out of the mist.

But the cracking of dawn was nothing compared to the way the Muskies have cracked in three of their four games. Except for one brief fit, a 19-0 win over T.P.L., who held Vanderbilt to a 13-13 tie, Xavier has been as disappointing as Christmas without toys.

Don't Sneer At Chances
In comparing season records it might appear that Xavier's chances of trimming Kentucky's undefeated Wildcats in their annual clam-bake in Cincinnati tomorrow are practically invisible. But they aren't for a variety of reasons.

To be blunt as a hammer, Kentucky, in the last two games, has been far off the form that netted glittering early season wins over VMI and Vanderbilt. In last week's battle in which the Cats made the Georgia Bulldogs bark the caning equivalent of "uncle" by a very narrow 13-6 margin, their inability to score from within the 3 yard line stood out like a bath-tub in a log cabin.

Hide In Weeds For Cats
Then Xavier's season, since the rivalry was inaugurated in 1935, has always begun and ended with Kentucky. What a shot in the arm is to a dope fiend or a drunk is to a thirsty man, even the prospects of a win over Kentucky has been to Xavier. In an effort to attain this much cherished victory, the Musketeers are willing to blast out with both barrels and always go after the Cats with the nonchalance of hounds scenting a rabbit.

Any team that points for a game like Xavier waits for Kentucky is Kirwan and his posse prep the Cats for a Xavier squad they know to be potential dynamite. If the Muskies reach the peak experts say is within their power, then tomorrow's battle promises to be as closely matched as billiard balls.

Here They Come
After a 7 day reprieve from predicting, during which time I secretly (drat it!) picked seven winners in eight tries, I return again this week to pick my favorites—that list of teams you know to disregard totally.

Kentucky 13 Xavier 0
Alabama 7 Mississippi State 0
Auburn 13 Georgia Tech 20
Tennessee 35 Mercer 0
Duke 14 Wake Forest 7
Michigan 28 Yale 0

JONES RATES 3RD AMONG SCORERS

By running his joint total for the year to 28 with one touchdown last week, Junior Jones, Kentucky's 170 pound sophomore halfback, held on to third place among the South-eastern conference scorers.

Ken Kavanaugh, L.S.U.'s candidate for All-America end, ran his total for the season to 48 and kept first place by a comfortable margin. Harvey Johnson, Mississippi State halfback, scored once last week but could not match Kavanaugh, who has scored all but 12 of his teams 60 points this season.

Although he threw the touchdown pass that broke up the Georgia game, Dave Zoeller scored only one point, on a kick after touchdown, but retained sixth place in the scoring derby. Erma Allen was blanked, but his total of 18 was good for seventh place. Jim Hardin made a bid for a place with the leaders by running his total to 11 with one touchdown last week.

You can tell a lot about a cigarette by whether it burns fast or slowly. Camel cigarettes are noted for their long burning. In fact, they burned longer, slower than any other brand tested, in recent scientific studies. Van Campen Heilner, the famous American authority on wild game, points out an interesting angle to this. "Camels give more smoking because those choice tobaccos burn so slowly," he says. "And I think the way they burn is a good way to judge the quality of cigarettes too. I can smoke them steadily and they still taste smooth and cool, and my mouth feels fresh—and there's no throat irritation. Camels are mild, flavory. They give more pleasure per puff—and more puffs per pack." Get extra smoking per pack—topped off with the delicate taste of choice tobaccos. Smoke Camels!

3 In the same tests, Camels held their ash far longer than the average time for all the other brands.
